The diagram illustrates a cross-section of a road profile. At the top, a green box contains the value 0+450.00. The vertical axis on the left is labeled with stationing numbers: 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, and 39. The horizontal axis at the bottom is labeled with offset values: -10.00, -8.00, -6.00, -4.00, -2.00, 0, 2.00, 4.00, 6.00, 8.00, and 10.00. The diagram is divided into three main horizontal sections by blue lines:

- EXISTING ELEVATIONS: The top section shows the existing ground profile. A red line indicates a proposed grade change, starting at an elevation of 36.38 at an offset of -2.00 and rising to 36.46 at an offset of 2.00.
- PROPOSED ELEVATIONS: The middle section shows the proposed road profile. It features a yellow line representing the proposed grade, which is constant at 36.46 from offset -2.00 to 10.00. A black line represents the existing ground profile, which is constant at 36.38 from offset -10.00 to -2.00.
- OFFSET: The bottom section shows the horizontal offset of the proposed road from the existing ground. The offset is 0 from -10.00 to -2.00, and then increases to 2.00 at offset 0, remaining constant at 2.00 until offset 10.00.
